

The design philosophy at The Dallas Morning News is built upon a foundation of uniformed simplicity.

The news and feature fronts are formatted for consistency. Areas within the formatted space are flexible relative to content.

The News feels that content dictates design. And when the content dictates, we depart from our format in a manner appropriate to the content.

Ed Kohorst